New Group Names 5-Man Ticket To Run in GHI Board Election

The election campaign for Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board members got off to an early start when a group known as a Committee of Concerned GHI Members this week announced the formation of a 5-man ticket to compete for the two-year terms. The elections are to be held on May 15 and 16 in conjunction with the GHI annual membership meeting.

The ticket is composed of Frank Lastner, Harry Zubkoff, Hans Jorgensen, Charles Schwan, and John O'Reilly. Zubkoff and Lastner are incumbents of the present 9-man board. Zubkoff is GHI president and Lastner is GHI vice-president.

Under the staggered system of voting in effect, five directors are elected this year, and four next year. Other incumbents whose terms expire this year are Joseph Comproni, Allen Morrison, and Bernard Bordenet (Bordenet was named by the board recently to fill the vacancy left by Ed Peters' resignation). Incumbents whose terms will not expire until next year — May 1964 — are William Helm, Joseph Cherry, Ed Burgoon, and Henry Brautigam.

David Champion, who with former Mayor James Wolfe is co-chairman of the group sponsoring the 5-man ticket, said that a special meeting of about 40 GHI members met on Thursday, April 4, to organize and formally endorse a ticket.

He said that Al Herling was named as chairman of the program committee which would solicit views from the candidates and members as to the program that would be supported by the ticket.

Public Hearings Next Week On Major Zoning Changes

Public hearings on proposed sweeping revisions in Prince Georges County's zoning ordinance will be held at 8 p.m., April 17 and 25 before The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

The first session is scheduled for the John Hanson Junior High School, 5660 Oxon Hill Road, Oxon Hill. The second will take place in the Army Reserve Center, 6601 Baltimore avenue, Riverdale.

Copies of the proposals, along with generalized maps showing where the new zones would apply, are available without charge at the Commission's office, 4811 Riverdale road, Riverdale. Also available for inspection there are larger, more detailed maps.

The proposed new ordinance constitutes the first wholesale revision of the zoning code since the present regulations were adopted in 1949.

Commission officials said the proposals will help guide the County's growth, highlighted by a more than doubling of the population in the last decade.

The Planning Commission will act on the proposed changes after the hearings and then will submit their recommendations to the County Commissioners, who have final zoning authority.

Issue of Holding Special Meetings Stirs Up GHI By-law Controversy

by Russ Greenbaum

With sparks flying over the issues of holding special membership meetings and the security of the ballot box, the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors completed their review of the proposed revisions to the GHI by-laws at a special meeting last Thursday night. The revised by-laws, which will be presented to the membership for approval at the GHI annual meeting on May 15, must still receive final board ratification at tonight's meeting.

The longest and sharpest debate, principally between By-laws Committee Chairman Schwan and GHI Director Bill Helm, was on the issue of whether the board should have the right in certain instances to reject a petition for special membership meeting submitted by GHI members. Helm argued that the board should have the authority to rule on whether the subject matter for which the meeting was requested was "relevant" to GHI operations, while Schwan declared that it was not for the board to decide on how important or relevant the subject matter was.

When Helm commented that this meant the members could call a meeting to discuss the Cuban Crisis or the Berlin Wall, Schwan insisted that the meeting must be held no matter what the reason was. "The members are calling you out," Schwan stated. He wanted to know "who should play God" to decide whether the board should agree to hold the meeting.

Question of Legality

In making a formal motion, Helm presented it as a revision to the by-laws requiring that no special membership meeting can be held if the action requested by the petition is illegal or would jeopardize the Corporation. Director Bernard Bordenet, who also worked on the by-laws committee, asked, "What does illegal mean?" Helm argued that if the board decided to reject a membership petition on such grounds, it had better substantiate and justify its decision or else it would have to answer to the members in the next election.

Director Joe Comproni said he tended to agree with the view that the board should not have such a right but that he would feel better about it if the quorum for a meeting was increased. Director Joe Cherry supported him on this point. This led to a discussion on whether it would be preferable as an alternative to increase the number of signatures required to call a special membership meeting. Helm, however, said he preferred the present minimum of 50 names which favored the individual member in contrast to an organization like the News Review which can easily gather a large number of signatures.

Revision Accepted

Before a vote could be taken on Helm's motion, Schwan in a compromise move agreed to accept the proposal as a separate item under membership meetings to be voted on separately by the members at the annual meeting. When the matter of the quorum came up for discussion, it was agreed after a brief debate and without a vote that it would not be practical to increase the quorum above the present number of 75 members.

A major change in the manner of calling special meetings was included in the revised by-laws with little controversy. This would require a meeting to be held within 45 days after the petition was submitted but not within 30 days of an annual meeting. The 45-day period was accepted when it was pointed out that a longer period is necessary during the summer months when GHI board meetings are less frequent. At the present time, the GHI secretary must call a special meeting within 7 days after receiving a petition, but there is no limitation on the date that he can set. It was pointed out that a special meeting can include an agenda containing, in addition to the subject matter of the petition, items proposed by the board or by a member presenting a petition with 10 signatures.

Nomination Procedure

Under the procedures for nominations and elections of board members, the matter of eligibility for nomination was settled by a compromise measure presented by Schwan. In the previous week's meeting Comproni wanted the by-laws to require the nominations committee to accept any candidate who submitted his name in writing. Schwan suggested that anyone not selected by the committee be allowed to get his name on the ballot by submitting his name in writing without the present requirement of 10 signatures on a petition. This proposal, which leaves the present functions of the nominations committee unchanged, was accepted unanimously without discussion.

On the question of the integrity of the ballot box Helm presented an elaborate procedure for guarding the box during the overnight period of the annual election. Stating that it was based on his experience with Government security practices and was not intended to reflect on any person, he listed the following 4 points:

Double Locks on Box

1) The slot would be covered by a solid cover attached to the ballot box by two separate locks.

2) All other outside openings would also be secured by two different locks.

3) The keys to these locks would be in the custody of members of the nominations and elections committee but no member would hold more than one key, and the chairman of the committee would not hold any keys. Surplus keys would be held by GHI directors who were not candidates in the current election, but no more than one key to a director.

4) The box would be in the custody of the chairman of the committee (as it now states in the by-laws) who would take the box to the police station overnight or to the GHI sales office on Centerway where it would remain with the lights left burning all night long.

Schwan termed this proposal as coming from a "land of fantasy" while GHI President Harry Zubkoff called it a "most shocking suggestion" which would "engender and show distrust." Rather than adopt such a procedure, he said, he would rather entrust the ballot box "to my political enemies."

Comproni, who seconded Helm's motion to use this procedure, stated it should not be looked upon "with such horror" and that the board should adopt something along this line. He noted that he was particularly concerned that during the last election the ballot box was kept in a private home overnight. (The ballot box was taken home by Bev Fonda, chairman of the nominations and election committee.)

Defeated by 3-2 Vote

The proposal was defeated by a 3-2 vote with Cherry, Bordenet and Zubkoff voting against Helm and Comproni. (Directors Ed Burgoon, Henry Brautigam and Allen Morrison had left the meeting earlier and Frank Lastner was not present.) During the discussion the board agreed informally to see if arrangements could be made to use a voting machine, probably not for this election but in future elections, and thus eliminate the problem of a ballot box.

Earlier the board agreed to remove the provision from the by-laws which gives a rejected applicant for membership the right to appeal to the membership. It was felt that a non-member should not have this right, although no rejected applicant has ever used it. Such applicants, however, who are not told the reason for their rejection, were given the right to appeal to the board for "further consideration."

It was also agreed that a GHI member who moves out of Greenbelt and then decides to return would be treated just like any new applicant applying for membership.

New Municipal Building

It is welcome news that the city council has awarded a contract for the construction of a new municipal building to house the city offices. No project has been longer in the planning stage or gone through so many vicissitudes. At least two city councils have spent much time on both the design for the building and working out a site. The last city council had actually approved a design but was not entirely happy with it, and it is to the credit of the present council that it was willing to take the time to make certain that the city would have the kind of building it needed with an attractive physical exterior and, most important of all, at a cost it could afford.

A major factor in the delay was a decision to change the site from a location adjacent to the firehouse to a site in the commercial center. The general convenience to the citizens would seem to make this a satisfactory choice, and it will be much easier for visitors from outside the community to find the city offices. All in all, our city council, particularly Mayor White who expended a great deal of personal effort on the municipal building plan, can take pride in its accomplishment.

Woman's Club Helps GoldenAgersCelebrate

The Woman's Club of Greenbelt assisted the Greenbelt Golden Age Club in celebrating their 6th Anniversary on March 27, at the Youth Center. The Golden Age Club was organized in 1957, with a charter membership of 11 ladies and 2 men. Today membership has reached 55 of whom 18 are men. Meetings are held each Wednesday afternoon at the Youth Center for recreation and club projects.

The Chairman for the Anniversary Party was Mrs. Paul C. Donnelly, Co-Chairman of the Community Affairs Department of the Woman's Club. The program consisted of a medley of folk songs and music furnished by a trio of students from DeMatha High School known as The Prince Georges Men. All of the boys are residents of Greenbelt, Tim Murray and Randy Mason, vocalists and Alan Henry guitarist and vocalist.

Following the program, refreshments were served, by the Woman's Club. A large decorated birthday cake was featured. Mrs. Charles T. McDonald, President, and Mrs. Ralph Neumann assisted Mrs. Donnelly in serving.

The next membership meeting of the Woman's Club will be held on April 18 at 8 p.m. at the Community Church. This will be the annual business meeting and election of officers.
